|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| Why did you decide to start refereeing? | |
| Having been a competitor and coach in Taekwondo for a long period of time, I believe that I had the experience to become a referee. | |
| I wanted to continue being a part of competitions so starting to referee allowed me to be involved in every aspect of Tae Kwon Do. | |

| | |
|--------------------------------------------------|----------------------|
| How many competitions do your referee each year? | 15 - 20 COMPETITIONS |
|--------------------------------------------------|----------------------|

|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| What would you tell other Tae Kwon Do practitioners why they should become a referee? | |
| Becoming a referee will expose a practitioner to more experience in Tae Kwon Do. They will learn more techniques and coaching skills, which will make them better. I recommend that all coaches attend the referee seminar. | |

|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| What is your favorite age, belt, and weight class to referee? And why? | |
| I like refereeing all different ages, belts, and weight classes, there is something to learn from each division. | |
